New York, February 7.—The tone of the stock market was heavier to-day, but trading was too listless to effect substantial changes in the level of prices. Operations on the short side were resumed, and for a time the attack on the list met with a fair degree of success. Later the market reversed itself, and losses were largely made up. The disposition to await developments in Washington before making definite commitments was more pronounced to-day, owing to the expectation of a decision as to the congressional investigation of the "money trust." The lattest turn in the governments conject with the United States Steel Co-ration also was a factor in the market, the possibility of erminial prosecution of officials of the corporation being utilized as a reason, for east pressure. The general list was influenced to a great extent by the action of United States Steel, which was the heaviest of the leaders. Republic Steel issues also were weak. A heavy cut in the steel tariff, it was argued would affect the independent companies more severely than the Steel Corporation.

Statistics of the country's output of pig from in January were encouraging, as they showed a production slightly in excess of December, and the largest since last April, with the exceptions of October and November. The January output foreshadows an increase in untilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation in the monthly report to be made next Saturday. Estimates of the increase ranged from 400,000 to 500,000 tons.

The exportation of gold to Paris continued to-day with the engagement of an additional $2,000,000. Exchange rates were somewhat lower. In the mounty in the form of gold to Paris continued to-day with the engagement of an additional $2,000,000. Exchange rates were somewhat lower. In the mounty in the form of gold to Paris continued to-day with the engagement of an additional $2,000,000. Exchange rates were somewhat lower. In the mounty of gold. Trading in bonds was more active. Another railroad offering was announced, the Chicago and of the Milwaukee, Sparta and Northwestern.

Some of the inactive stocks again moved widely. Central Railroad of New Jersey sold at $380, an advance of 5 points, and a new high record. American Tobacco slumped 7 points, owing to disappointment that the directors took no action on dividends at their meeting to-day. Later the loss was largely recovered.

The bond market was fairly steady.
Total sales, par value, $5,903,000.

United States bonds were unchanged en call.

Total sales for the day, 337,300 shares of stock.

The Road Force.

The other bill defines the classes of prisoners which shall constitute the county road force. In these are included all prisoners convicted of crime cluded all prisoners convicted of crime and sentenced to hard labor on the public roads prior to May 1, 1913, and after that date all prisoners who have been convicted of felony and sentenced to confinement in the penitentiary, provided their sentences are within the five-year limit prescribed by the preceding bill.

The are makes also a part of the ceding bill.

The act makes also a part of the convict road force all persons now confined in the public jails, or who may be hereafter convicted and so confined, when delivered to the superintendent of the penitentiary, subject, too, to the same term limitation as the others.

of the penitentiary, subject, too, to the same term limitation as the others.

Oppose Contract System.

At the conclusion of the report of the subcommittee, the joint committee voted to allow one hour for public discussion of the question, and, at the expiration of that time, to go into executive session to take action on the report. The Senate chamber and gallery were both filled to their capacity when the meeting was called to order at $220 o'clock.

C. P. Lovely opened a general attack on the contract system with the statement that his experience with twenty-eight inistitutions contracting the labor of their convicts, has forced him to the conclusion that every form of the contract system was pernicious, not only because of the competition it precipitates with free labor, but because of the abuse and mistreatment of the prisoners themselves. Eighteen of these twenty-eight institutions, he said, maintain the regulation whipping post, which is employed chiefly in the castigation of prisoners who do not fuiful the expectations of the contractors.

At the time of his general inquiry

At the time of his general inquiry into the subject, in 1905, he said, only one other institution in the United States was werse than the Virginia Penitentiary in the condition of its convicts employed by contract. The provision reported by the committee requiring the superintendent of the penitentiary to be the taskmaster would, in practice, be meaningless, he thought, since superintendents and wardens generally acquiesce to the demands of the company.

He submitted reports from various manufacturers in the country stating that in many cases the competition precipitated by the employment of convicts resulted in the destruction of important divisions of their industries, throwing a large amount of free laborout of work.

Only One Side Present.

Only One Side Present.

James J. Creamer, member of the House from Richmond, closed the debate. He commented on the fact that there was but one side—no one appearing against the opponents of contract convict labor. There was nothing new in the report of the subcommittee, so far as he could see, except the remarkable discovery that 611 men in the penitentiary are too desperate to do road work. He had lived the ten the penitentiary for thirty years, and assured the committees that men are not losing sleep in that neighborhood because of these many dangerous fine. He was informed that about 110 men are used in the priton for sweening and such took the contract of the such contracts. 110 men are used in the pricon for sweeping and such tasks, "and," he added, "110 and 500 men wanted by the Reliance Company makes 611."
